Comments

“ Tom: I'm sorry I omitted your son in the previous message. I didn't realize the error until one of my siblings brought it to my attention. My prayers for God's continued help during this time to all of you, including your children and grandchildren.

The generations kept growing and I didn't keep up with it. I missed many of the family get-togethers while I was very sick and hospitalized for many long years with chronic depression/bipolar disease that the medical teams could not find medication/treatment to bring it under control. I thank God for the miracles of medicine and the insistent teams of doctors that didn't give up on finding what would work in my system. With medications and therapy I have been stable for several years.

“ Adam: I express my sincere sympathy to you on losing your mom. God will give you comfort and guidance during this difficult time. She was a true treasure to everyone who met her. Her loving kind smile expressed who she was. That's what I have remembered since she was born. God be with you and your family. love, Ruth Rehbaum (Sue's Becker cousin from Watertown)

“ Tom: My sincere sympathy and prayers to you in the loss of your wife, Sue. She was one of God's treasures sent to spend the past years with you and your daughter. Know God will be with you and your family comforting and helping guide you with His love during this difficult time. With love and prayers, Your wife's Becker cousin, Ruth Rehbaum in Watertown.

Jenny: My sincere sympathy and prayers to you in the loss of your mom. Her soft kind and loving smile has been what I remember since she was born. When I look at the Becker Family Lineage book we received at Rose's place you have a similar smile as your mom. Losing a mom is very difficult, as your mom experienced many years ago, and I'm sorry you have to experience that now. God will be with you and your family with His love and comforting guidance to help you during this difficult time

I regret not finding transportation to bring me down to spend time with you and your parents all these years. At the Becker Family reunion and picnics I visited with your mom but did not take time to meet all the 'younger generation'. After this Covid time, in which I am being very careful because I have leukemia, thankfully in the 'watch and wait' stage, I hope I have the opportunity to get to know you. (My sister, Esther, died from many cancers when she was 67 years old, and Katie died when she was 52, as your mom's mother died at 52 years old.) God knows what is best for all of us, but it can be hard for us when we don't understand His will. God will be with you and help you. Love, your mom's Becker cousin, Ruth Rehbaum in Watertown. (Harvey's sister).
