“ As a son-in-law I have to be high on the list of those whom Faye blessed greatly. She gave me her daughter. Natalie had her moms heart. She shared Faye’s kindness and energy. Faye did not miss one detail in schooling Natalie to be a capable, loving and supportive wife. Faye was an outstanding role model of what a wife and mother should be and I always knew I was given a precious gift in Natalie. I lived my married life with Natalie in honor of this gift and hoping I would prove worthy. Faye on the other hand was always making sure she was a good mother-in-law showing respect and kindness to me in every way. During Natalie’s junior high school years there was a two week period the school system was on strike during which Faye taught Natalie the basics on cooking. I benefited greatly from that but the real benefit got passed on to our four children and now they all enjoy offering up great food to their families and friends. This is just one of many examples how Faye modelled and taught goodness that continues to live on generations later. Faye will always be with the us even though she is no longer present. Thank you Faye for being the giver of life to us all
