“ Please accept my condolences. May the Bible Promise giving in Isaiah 26:19 brings you comfort. "Your dead will live. My corpses will rise up. Awake and shout joyfully, You residents in the dust! For your dew is as the dew of the morning, and the earth will let those powerless in death come to life." I hope this promise of an earthly resurrection brings you hope.

“ My deepest condolences to Matt's family. Matt and I knew each other for many years. There were times that we worked at the same company and car pooled to work each day, and times when we shared the same hobbies of playing games and watching anime. I have not seen him much the last few years, but I have always considered him a friend. It makes me very sad to know I will not meet him again in this life. I will always cherish the time we had together, the good and the bad. Farewell, Kramer. You will be missed.
