“ For some reason I kept thinking about Rollie over a week ago. Kept remembering the fun we had in high school. Home room, football, basketball, and hanging out. He was tough on the football field, but a gentle giant off. I was very surprised when I saw his death notice. I was proud to have known him.

“ I have many fond memories of Rollie from when we were friends in junior high and high school. I had not seen Rollie after high school until 5 years ago when he reached out and came to my first wife's memorial service to see me. It was wonderful to reconnect after all those years and I enjoyed several lunches with Rollie and our mutual friend T.J. Jensen. We tried to continue our luncheon get togethers, but couldn't reach Rollie so we lost touch again. We did not know he was sick.

*He has moved on to a better place and is not suffering any more!
Thoughts and prayers to all his family.*

“ Hello,
Two years ago Rollie asked me to join his team and sell insurance. I wanted to do something special for people just like Rollie did. I have struggled on many occasions but was always comforted by Rollie and continued ahead. I helped him move from place to place as he changed his home addresses. Shared his private feelings about relationships he became involved in and issues he was being confronted with.
In the last two months we became closer as I took him to doctor appointments and medical procedures always keeping it confidential per his instructions. I would get his groceries and lunches or dinners when he couldn't get around and make sure he got to his doctor appointments when they came up. I always prayed he would improve and be back to share my successes and get me through my failures.
I called Rollie the "Wizard" and have two quick recordings of him giving me advice if you would care to hear them. His charm, wisdom and character will always make me smile when I feel blue. He will be dearly missed and never forgotten by my wife and I.
Sincerely,
Allen Bowe

“ Ro, you helped transform my business these past 2 years working together. You're the single most important factor in helping me move past some obstacles in my life and I remain indebted to you. We spent many hours working together, sharing our lives, and driving in the car to and from appointments.
It was an honor to know and work with you!
