“ August 2nd Vickie and I went to the zoo. Hadn't been there in years. It was a beautiful day we had such a good time looking at all the animals. There was this extra friendly little chipmunk who was obviously used to zoo goers giving her food. She just stood there on her hind legs totally unafraid so cute looking up at us until we gave her some peanuts and off she went. I miss her so much already.
